This book is unique. Where others require acknowledgment for credit and tribute to persons and other entities; this is not so with this modest work. After finding the secret in discerning God's wisdom, its preparation became so smooth and spontaneous that almost everything wanting to know about Him, and the great message of His words, became like "spring of living water" that knows no end.

The secret that the author discovered is known to everybody but it is disregarded, perhaps, due to the claim of human competence to understand what is spoken of as "spiritual things." How many people noticed the Jews erred in thinking they could comprehend what Jesus was telling them, spoken of in their own language, but it was miles away from the message? Did they not ridicule and laugh at His claim, "Destroy this temple, and in three days I will raise it up."?

Today how many people noticed that, while God speaks their own language of which the Holy Bible is translated, like, English to the Americans and British, Spanish to the Spaniards, Mandarin to the Chinese, and so forth, do not all fall over like the Jews 2000 year ago?

The Apostles were endowed the "secret" of discernment. Emptiness and incompetence was their virtue, that to them the revelation was given. Acting like "babes and suckling," they waited for our Lord to demonstrate that the temple He spoke of refers to His "body" at His death and resurrection in three days.

How many people have the patience to wait for the explanation of God of His words, for He will surely reveal this by "demonstration?" Is it not written that God speaks parables?<sup>1</sup> Was it not prophesied that Jesus Christ would speak

"dark sayings of old?"<sup>2</sup> Did not all these come to pass when the Messiah was seen in person?

Mark 4:34 "But without a parable spake he not unto them: and when they were alone, he expounded all things to his disciples."

Was Peter authorized to expound on the words that are expressed in parables? John? James? Paul? Professing apostles of Christ today?

Acknowledgment therefore is due to God alone for He is the sole authority to expound on His words. And to Him this book is graciously dedicated who deserves devotion and praise:

Psalms 56:10 "In God will I praise his word: in the LORD will I praise his word."
